

Alice (from Wonderland) tells ~~her~~ her Mad Hatter friend her Uncle told her to wish for 6 impossible things before breakfast. With this in her tiny pocket she slays the Jabberwocky and everyone lives happily ever after - and we may not, but let us vow not to be beaten by Jabberwockys, impossible things - and Black Dogs ~~for that matter~~ for that matter.

BOy wished for impossible things . . .

he was invisible to the world and it to him and tears were allowed to flow as freely as oil and concrete adults grew up and stopped fighting mother nature didn't get so angry homes were homes and 'goodnights' were safe morning brought back the good ~~ol'~~ ol' days roads didn't take their toll and the sky could breathe again
