

Sleeping Beauty

little miss muppet sat on her tuffet and along came a spider and she said: "Here, pull up a seat." For beauty is awake you see to the stories they spin so she can't break free. So now she sits in itsy, bitsy fright, dreaming sweet dreams in day and in night.

Some places are so dark she didn't want to go there but once she'd looked under the bed she didn't have to sleep in the middle anymore! army of ink
